New Series: "The Tarnished Rule"

How We Have Missed the "Golden Rule" in a world seeking justice

"God's Quartet of Justice.
Who is in. Who is out"

You are stopped at an intersection. Someone is there with a sign that says, "Homeless. Please help." What is your first thought and action?

In your opinion, who is responsible for providing for the vulnerable around you? Are you content with the response?

Read Galatians 3:28. How do I view and treat everyone as equal?

Evaluating oneself against Zechariah 7:6- Am I usually more concerned about the religious observances I make, or the actions I take? Do I fret more about Sundays than the person with the sign at the intersection?

God's "Quartet of Justice" highlights the vulnerable- widows, orphans, aliens, poor. If any, which do I worry and help the most? The least? Why?

Read James 1:27. How is this verse reflected in my life?

Read Leviticus 24:22. How does this verse apply to our immigration conversations today?

Read Proverbs 19:17- How does this verse change my thinking towards helping the poor today? Read Proverbs 31:8,9. How can I be an advocate?

In light of scripture's teaching on justice, how will my actions and attitudes change? What is one thing I can do to be a person of Biblical Justice? Have I received God's provision of justice through Christ in my life?
