

Sunday, October 16, 2022

“When Mercy Comes Knocking”
Isaiah 25:1-5

I need to be willing to _____ my story.

Read Isaiah 22:8-13

Read Matthew 7:3-5

Where is my examination usually focused? My failings or the failings of others?

---

---

---

When was the last time I invited God to examine my own heart? What was the result?

I need to be _____ when God examines my story.

Read Isaiah 25:1-5 and Psalms 139:23-24

Who do I trust to help me examine my life in light of God’s commands, purposes and desires? Am I willing and glad to be examined?

---

---

---

I need to _____ God’s mercy into my story.

Read Isaiah 30:15-19 and John 5:39-40.

What parts of my life need an intervention of God’s mercy? Repentance is defined as “turning around and heading in a new direction.” How have I repented in my life before God? Before others?

Today’s Reflection

- ✓ Am I more intent on examine the lives of others rather than my own?
- ✓ Have I examined my life and have I invited God’s mercy into the broken pieces of my life?
- ✓ To whom would God have me intentionally share the good news of his mercy?