“When ‘One’ is My ‘All’”
John 4:1-26

Who am I most likely to walk by without stopping? What type of person am I least likely to engage in conversation?

In John’s gospel, John leads you on a series of interactions that Jesus has with people. These people come from all chapters of life.

Read John 2:24 again.

What does it mean for you to know that God knows exactly what is in each of our hearts and what we need?

Jesus, knowing us intimately responds to each of us in the way we need. Each of our encounters are personal to each of us. This week in John 4, he meets a woman, an outcast, an unwelcomed, unwanted member of her community. He does so by specifically going to a place that others had already written off- Samaria. (John 4:4-6)

Jesus sees her as a _____.

Read John 4:9-11

Who in my world does Jesus “see” that I walk by?

Jesus builds a _____ not a _____.

Read John 4:13-14.

How well would people say do I listen to them? _____
How do I build walls in my relationships and not bridges?

Jesus reflects the _____ she already knows about herself

Read John 4:16-18

How do I rehearse someone’s failures to them rather than help them through their failures?

Jesus raises her faith from place to _____

Read John 4:21-24.

In what ways have I compared my faith to others? In what ways have I compared my church to others? What has been the outcome when I do?

Jesus releases her with what she _____

Read John 4:25-30.

How do I use my lack of knowledge of my faith as an excuse to not share what I do know?

Jesus uses _____ “ones” to reach “alls”

Read John 4:39-42.

Can you write the names of people I have avoided talking to about Jesus?

What is keeping me today from doing so with what I learn from John 4?

This week

How will I stop using “all” as a way of avoiding “one?”

Next Week: “True Love”
